This plan is designed to create a stable foundation for progress, guiding us toward successful outcomes that benefit all members of our community.

Together, we will take proactive steps to build a strong future—one where every voice is heard, every need is addressed, and every individual has the opportunity to thrive.

Let us embark on this journey with a shared commitment to excellence and the belief that through collaboration, we can achieve remarkable results for our community.

As a Council, we value unity, strong leadership and integrity and undertake the development of this plan for our future with respect and compassion for our community with a view to develop strategies and actions that are economically responsible and ecologically sustainable.

Through open communication we will engage with our community to build on local knowledge and create a future of which we can all be proud.

Our community

In our close-knit community, the strength of our bonds lies in our diversity of our experiences and our shared appreciation for this region. This rich tapestry enhances our collective resilience, allowing us to face challenges with a united front.

IP&R cycle

The Integrated Planning and Reporting (IP&R) Cycle in New South Wales local councils is a structured approach that ensures effective planning, execution, and review of community goals and council operations.

The following is an overview of the IP&R cycle:

1. Community Strategic Plan (CSP): This is the foundational document that articulates the community's long-term vision, goals, and priorities. Developed with significant community engagement, it serves as a guiding framework for the council's actions and policies.
2. Delivery Program: This plan outlines how the council will implement the strategies identified in the CSP over a four-year period. It includes specific projects, activities, and resources required to achieve the community's goals.
3. Operational Plan: This is a more detailed, annual document that breaks down the Delivery Program into specific actions, budget allocations, and performance indicators. It specifies what will be done in the coming year and how it will be funded. The budget is closely aligned with the Operational Plan, detailing the financial resources needed to deliver services and projects. It ensures that funding is allocated in a way that supports the council's strategic priorities.
4. Resourcing Strategy: The Resourcing Strategy is a critical component of the IP&R framework in New South Wales, supporting the effective implementation of the Community Strategic Plan and related documents. It encompasses three key elements:

Long-Term Financial Plan (LTFP):

This plan outlines the council's financial strategy over a minimum of ten years. It projects income and expenditure, ensuring that financial resources align with the goals outlined in the CSP. It helps councils plan for sustainable service delivery and infrastructure investment while managing financial risks.

Workforce Management Plan (WMP):

The WMP addresses the human resources needed to achieve the council's objectives. It includes strategies for recruitment, training, staff development, and succession planning. This ensures that the council has the right skills and capabilities in place to deliver services effectively and meet community needs.

Asset Management Plan (AMP):

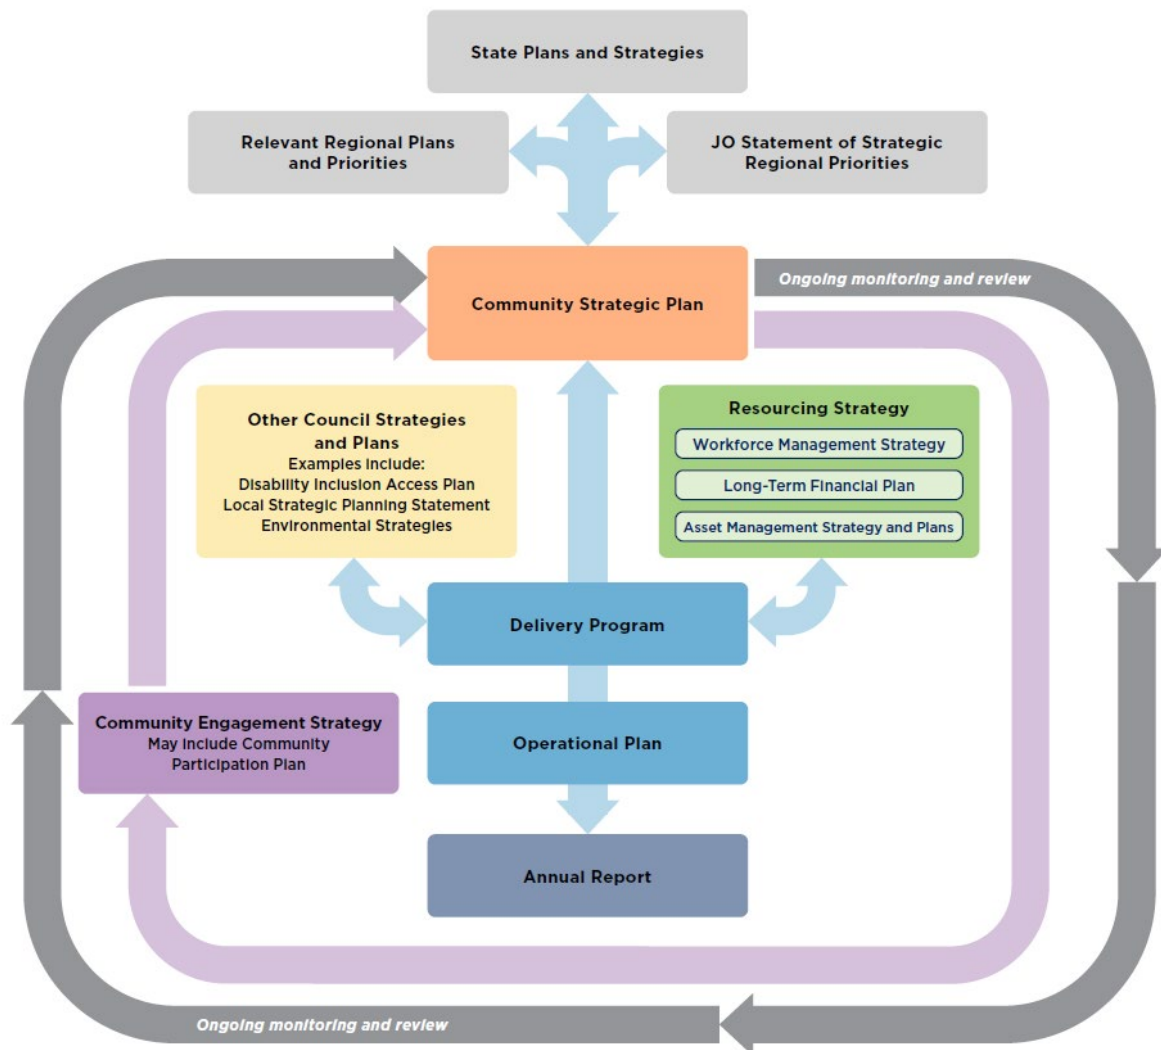

The AMP provides a framework for managing the council's physical assets, such as buildings, roads, parks, and infrastructure. It outlines how these assets will be maintained, renewed, and developed to support service delivery. The plan focuses on sustainability, lifecycle management, and ensuring that asset management aligns with community priorities.

Together, these elements of the Resourcing Strategy ensure that councils can effectively allocate resources—financial, human, and physical—to achieve their strategic objectives and serve the community effectively over the long term.

5. Annual Report: At the end of each financial year, councils produce an annual report that reviews progress against the Delivery Program and Operational Plan. It assesses achievements, challenges, and financial performance, providing transparency and accountability to the community.
6. Review and Adaptation: The IP&R cycle is iterative. Councils regularly review and adjust their plans based on community feedback, performance outcomes, and changing circumstances. This ongoing evaluation helps ensure that strategies remain relevant and effective.

This cyclical process promotes continuous improvement, aligning council actions with community needs while fostering greater transparency and engagement in local governance.

The diagram on the following page demonstrates the interrelationships between each of the documents as well as provides linkages to other plans relevant to delivering services within the local community.

Purpose and relevance of the CSP

The Community Strategic Plan (CSP) in New South Wales is a crucial document for local councils, serving several important purposes within the Integrated Planning and Reporting Framework. Its key functions and relevance include:

1. Vision and Direction: The CSP outlines the long-term vision and strategic priorities for the community, reflecting the values, aspirations, and needs of residents. It guides the overall direction of council activities and initiatives.
2. Community Engagement: The development of the CSP involves extensive consultation with community members, stakeholders, and local organisations. This ensures that the plan is reflective of the community's input and fosters a sense of ownership among residents.
3. Integration of Plans: The CSP integrates various aspects of community development, including economic, social, environmental, and cultural priorities. It helps ensure that different council plans and services are aligned and work towards common goals.

4. Resource Allocation: By identifying priorities, the CSP helps councils make informed decisions about resource allocation, budgeting, and investment in community projects and services.
5. Accountability and Reporting: The CSP sets measurable outcomes and indicators, which allows councils to monitor progress and report back to the community. This enhances transparency and accountability in local governance.
6. Framework for Action: The CSP serves as a foundation for more detailed operational plans, such as the Delivery Program and Operational Plan, outlining specific actions and initiatives to achieve the community's goals.

Overall, the CSP is essential for fostering sustainable development, enhancing community well-being, and ensuring that local governance is responsive to the needs of the community.

To support this process, several documents, policies and strategies were referenced to help build this Community Strategic Plan as well as several currently being developed. In doing this, Bland Shire intends to incorporate the key findings from studies undertaken in recent years and the related strategies and actions identified to enable the integration of those documents into the overarching CSP. In so doing, it will connect and address the common themes and goals which were identified by the community through the development of those plans

Context – where we are now

Originally proclaimed on the 6 March 1906, the Bland Shire has developed into a vibrant and progressive community located on the northern fringes of the Riverina region.

The Shire's major centre of West Wyalong is centrally located on the junction of the Newell and Mid-Western Highways and within a 160 kilometre radius of Wagga Wagga, Griffith, Forbes, Parkes and Cowra and within 300 kilometres of Canberra – providing an authentic rural lifestyle with the conveniences of the city well within reach.

The Shire offers outstanding parks, gardens, sporting and community facilities, great schools, key medical and business facilities and boasts an outstanding community spirit.

The Bland Shire's history is deeply engrained in agriculture and gold production which continues through to today; recognised as one of the most productive agricultural areas in the state with cereals and sheep being the major producers. The Evolution Cowal Gold Mine commenced construction in 2004 with gold production in 2006 and is expected to continue production for many years in the future.

The Shire is also home to Eucalyptus oil production, which commenced in 1907 and has resulted in the West Wyalong region being one of the major world exporters of Eucalyptus oil in Australia.

In 2006, Pace Farm completed construction of a new rearing, laying and grading facility, one of the most sophisticated egg operations in the southern hemisphere. The villages located within the Bland Shire include Barmedman, Tallimba, Ungarie, Weethalle, Wyalong, Naradhan and Mirrool.

All have unique qualities and an abundance of community pride that is harnessed and fostered to give each village their own character and prosperity.

The community is proud of the facilities and services across the shire, but our greatest asset is our people where new residents are embraced and valued.

Bland Shire today

To obtain an understanding of Bland Shire's current community a range of data has been reviewed. Information from the 2021 Australian Bureau of Statistics Census, the Regional Wellbeing Survey undertaken by the Health Research Institute at the University of Canberra and more localised surveys such as Community Satisfaction Surveys and bespoke consultations undertaken for and on behalf of Bland Shire Council has helped to formulate the following information.

What the 2021 Census told us:
	People	5547
	Male	50.30%
	Female	49.70%
	Median age	43
	Families	1443
	Average number of children per family
	for families with children	2
	for all households	0.7
	All private dwellings	3090
	Average number of people per household	2.30
	Median weekly household income	$1,326
	Median monthly mortgage repayments	$1,083
	Median weekly rent	$200
	Average number of motor vehicles per dwelling	2.1

Of those people living within the Bland Shire, 18% of people lived in rented accommodation with 73.8% either owning their homes outright or having a mortgage.

The number of businesses within Bland Shire has increased in the four years to 2023 with the majority of those businesses being sole operators.

Only a handful of local business operations (four in 2020 and 2021 and seven in 2022 and 2023) employ more than 20 staff.

The biggest industry employer within the Shire is the agricultural industry which accounts for more than 28% of the working population. Agriculture from the region produced more than $500m in total gross value product with more than $389m of that being in grain. The second largest local employer is mining which provides employment for just over 11% of the population.

A community's sense of wellbeing and belonging are equally as important to their way of life as employment or residential status. The Regional Wellbeing Survey provides some insight into the thinking of the local community. While the following graph provides a snapshot of those wellbeing indicators it is not a definitive picture of the Bland Shire community but more an indication based on the responses of those community members who completed the most recent survey document. Based on this information, the community in general has a reasonable level of satisfaction with where they live, what the future holds and their standard of living.

The Community Satisfaction Survey undertaken by Bland Shire Council in July and August 2024 was designed to measure:

- Satisfaction with the performance of Council
- Satisfaction with Council's responsibilities under the four themes identified in the previous Community Strategic Plan:
 - Our People
 - Our Places
 - Our Leadership
 - Our Prosperity
- Future priorities for the Council
- The liveability of Bland Shire
- Level of contact with Council.

This research indicated that satisfaction levels varied across the community and age groups with researchers stating this was a common trend and reflected a deepening pessimism (since 2020) among Australians in their own personal situation.

Local factors are also impacting residents' perceptions and there is the opportunity to improve satisfaction. The survey identified key opportunities for improvement including supporting local jobs and businesses, road maintenance and the stormwater system. The key highlights for residents were roads, economic development and housing.

However, civic pride remains high with positive perceptions on safety, community and the natural environment. When asked what they value about Bland Shire, the residents referenced:

- A supportive community spirit
- Its open environment
- A sense of safety
- A slower pace of life.

Community Vision Statement – where we want to be

Building a Sustainable Community:

Empowering People, Promoting Fairness, and Achieving Progress

Key elements

When asked to define the unique elements that made Bland Shire special to those who choose to live and work here, the words used included things such as volunteerism, close knit, community spirit, diversity of income and demographics, welcoming, caring and progressive. For many, the common element was that the Bland Shire was their home.

Place refers to a specific location that holds meaning or significance, often shaped by personal experiences, culture, and context. It can be a physical space, like a city, a home, or a natural environment, but it also encompasses the feelings and memories associated with that location. Place is not just about geography; it's about how a location influences identity, relationships, and experiences, creating a sense of belonging or attachment.

Growth is the process of developing, increasing, or evolving over time. It can refer to physical changes, such as the growth of a plant or a child's development, as well as personal or emotional growth, which involves gaining new insights, skills, or resilience. In a broader sense, growth can apply to communities, organisations, or economies, indicating progress, improvement, or expansion. Ultimately, growth is about change and the journey of becoming, often accompanied by challenges and learning.

People are individual human beings who make up a group or society. Each person is unique, with their own thoughts, feelings, experiences, and identities. People interact with one another, forming relationships, communities, and cultures that shape social dynamics. The term encompasses a wide range of characteristics, including ethnicity, nationality, age, gender, and beliefs, reflecting the diversity of human experiences. Ultimately, people are defined by their capacity for connection, communication, and collaboration within their social contexts.

Family is a group of individuals connected in some way – whether that be by blood, marriage, or strong emotional bonds. Traditionally, it includes parents and children, but it can also encompass extended relatives like grandparents, aunts, uncles, and cousins. Beyond biological connections, family can also refer to chosen relationships—friends or communities that provide support, love, and a sense of belonging. Ultimately, family is about the relationships that nurture and sustain us, regardless of how they are formed.

Home is a place where you feel safe, comfortable, and connected. While it can be a structure of any type, its prevailing essence is that it often embodies emotional ties, memories, and a sense of belonging. Home can also represent people—family, friends, or pets—who contribute to that feeling of security and love. Ultimately, it's a personal concept that varies for everyone, shaped by experiences and relationships. For many, the word “home” resonated strongly as it represented more than just a tangible space.

On their own, each of these words – Place, Growth, People, Family, Home – helps to generate concepts of things which matter to our community. With these words and the themes which stem from them, we will develop strategies that will empower people, promote fairness and achieve progress to build a sustainable community.

Identified Key Challenges

During the engagement process several challenges for the future of Bland Shire were identified. Among these challenges were: housing affordability and availability, access to health services and emergency health, isolated and ad hoc government funding, centralisation of services to larger communities, need for diversification of industries, limitations on access to training and education, lack of services, lack of cultural activity and connectivity issues with digital services.

Each of these issues will be measured against available data to determine their level of urgency and criticality ahead of individual strategy development. However, to provide an indication of how they can be addressed, an overview and potential actions of each are included as an attachment to this Plan.

Community Engagement

During the two-year period leading up to the development of this Community Strategic Plan, the Bland Shire community was actively engaged in a range of events which sought feedback on matters ranging from development of a Regional Drought Resilience Plan to Wyalong and West Wyalong Main Street Project and a shire-wide Sport and Recreation Plan. In addition to this, Council undertook a Community Satisfaction Survey in July and August which captured responses from approximately 300 residents across the shire to questions relating to Council performance and services.

The content from all these programs has been referenced to shape this draft document along with feedback from Community Forums held on 17 October and 4 November 2024.

As part of these workshops, participants were asked:

- What values should guide our community's development?
- What are the strengths and unique characteristics of our community?
- What are the biggest challenges facing our community today?
- What do you envision for our community in the next 5, 10, or 20 years?

On 22 October 2024, a further Councillor only workshop was held at which their vision for the future of Bland Shire was discussed and developed. From this workshop, the community vision was created.

How this vision will be realised will be through strategic objectives formulated around the key words – Place, Growth, People, Family, Home – which set the framework for this document. While Council has a lead role in the development of this CSP it is, by no means, the only stakeholder in its effective delivery.

Other partners, including State and Federal governments and their departments, local and regional business operators large and small as well as community organisations, groups and individuals will have a role to play at some point throughout the course of this plan's 10-year life.

Council has multiple roles in the delivery of the Community Strategic Plan. Specific activities Council will undertake to achieve objectives and strategies will be detailed in the Delivery Program (2025-2029) and Operational Plan (2025/2026 and ongoing).

Broadly speaking, Council's role includes being:

- a leader – to plan and provide direction through policy and practices
- a provider – of physical infrastructure and essential services

- a regulator – of development, community health and safety and the environment
- a partner – with community, private and government organisations
- a supporter – and advocate for the community it represents
- a promoter – of the Bland Shire as a place to live, work, visit and invest.

Reporting Our Progress

Performance Measures

The Community Strategic Plan is presented five themes - Place, Growth, People, Family, Home.

Each of these themes will have a number of Delivery Targets and Operational Actions including performance measures developed through the four-year Delivery Program and Annual Operational Plans to be achieved.

The progress towards these measures will be reported to the community in line with the election cycle and the End of Term Report.

Monitoring & Reporting

It is important to track and report on our progress in delivering our responsibilities under the Community Strategic Plan over the ten-year period.

Council will report to the community at regular intervals on what has been achieved and the progress towards the performance measures.

All reports will be made available to the community at Council meetings and on Council's website.

Council's management team will internally monitor on a quarterly basis the output and actions as detailed in the four-year Delivery Program and one-year Operational Plan.

The outcomes will be formally reported to Council, the Community and staff on a six-monthly basis.

Whilst some performance measures can be clearly quantified, it does not necessarily mean the Community is aware of, fully appreciates, or is fully satisfied with, the extent of progress made.

Therefore, there are also qualitative measures included that represent Community responses.

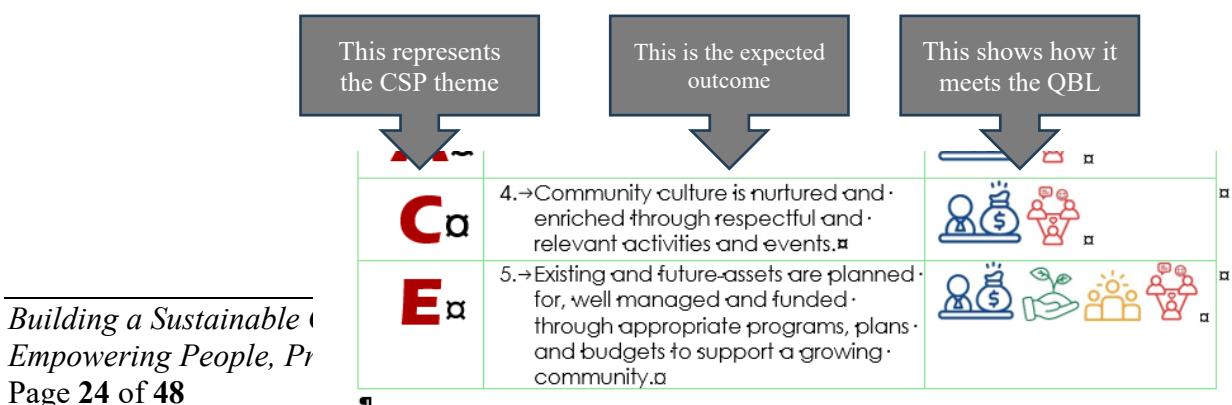

A community satisfaction survey will be undertaken at least once during every term of Council to gauge whether the community is satisfied with progress and where priorities could or should be assigned to particular areas in the future.

How to read this plan

The CSP has been developed through various consultation processes to identify the key themes and potential strategies to assist in building a sustainable community

The document shows how each theme will be addressed and includes reference to not only existing strategies and documents but indicates where there may be a need for such plans to be developed. There also exists within each theme a list of potential partners to achieve the outcomes required to realise the vision identified by the community.

Each of the CSP themes are represented by a differing colour and the Draft was developed to incorporate these various areas of focus. To assist in reading the document, as shown below,

In addressing the quadruple bottom line, Community Strategic Plans need to include objectives that relate to the QBL and strategies to achieve these.

In order to monitor progress against these objectives, council will need to gather information about these elements, assess this information, consider relevant issues and suggest responses in order to inform the community’s and the council’s long-term plans.

To assist the community to identify which activities will address this approach, the following visual cues have been developed.
